

THE GAZETTE.

SAURDAY JANUARY 29.
If Mr. Cleveland wants to prove to the country that he is wiser than Congress, and dare vote his convictions, let him vote the inter-state commerce bill.

The official canvass has been made of the vote in the Eighth congressional district, and Mr. Haugen's majority for the new term is 1,356; and Mr. Kuehn's for the term ending March 4, is 6,994.

A dispatch from Washington to the Sentinel gives the following news regarding the Wisconsin postoffice: The commissions of four Wisconsin postmasters at offices of the presidential class expire to-morrow, as follows: Edward Whaley, Prairie du Chien; M. S. Patullo, New London; W. W. Crandall, Chippewa Falls; and G. Richardson, Fort Howard. Postmaster-General Vilas was at the white house this afternoon, and it is surmised that he submitted the papers in several Wisconsin cases, but nothing definite could be learned as to what his recommendations were. From all that can be gathered it is most probable that Edward Whaley, although a republican, will be re-nominated for the Prairie du Chien postoffice. It is known that General Bragg is strongly in favor of Whaley, his removal or retirement will be difficult to explain upon any ordinary theory and could only be attributed to a fixed purpose to overrule General Bragg.

THE ONE-MILL TAX.

One of the most difficult matters the present legislature has to deal with is the one-mill school tax. To the members of that body it is a good deal like the inter-state commerce bill was to the members of Congress—very few want it or care anything about it, but they have not the courage to vote against it. The plan of raising a school fund by a general state tax, is a very common one as was shown in the Gazette the other day, and in principle it probably does not merit condemnation, although it operates badly in some counties.

Mr. Isaac Lusk, of Waukesha, takes strong grounds against the law, and writes to the Milwaukee Sentinel as follows:

I saw in the Sentinel of the 25th inst., headed "The One Mill Tax, The Outcry of the Northern Counties Greatly Intensified by the Late Action of the Legislature," and your correspondent there proceeded to show that all the northern counties, twelve in number, pay more of the one mill tax than they receive back. They certainly are benefited over the rest. And as stated by your correspondent at Florence in your issue of the 24th inst., "They lose from one-half to nineteen twentieths of the money they raise under the law." Now the fact is it is not the northern counties that are benefited, but it is the western, central and a few of the eastern counties that receive profit from the tax. The following list of twenty counties receive back more than they pay: Adams, Buffalo, Brown, Crawford, Eau Claire, Fillmore, Jackson, Kewaunee, Lincoln, Manitowish, Marquette, Menominee, Oconto, Outagamie, Richland, Sauk, Trempealeau, Pierce, Pepin, Vernon and Washburn. Those twenty counties pay in $97,452 and get back $155,130. Nine of these counties are in the northern tier; most of them may be called northern; but they are the oldest county of the state. I refer to Brown, and that county paid of the tax only $6,683, and received back $13,554. Milwaukee counties paid in $10,211, and Rock county $8 more than they got back. I believe your correspondent at Florence was right when he called it "an iniquitous law." Now look at another feature of it. The law is as unjust between towns in the same county. Some of the towns receive back at least 40 per cent more of the tax than they paid, and other towns 40 per cent less than they paid. The law is unjust from any direction you may look at it.

It should not be a difficult matter for the members of the legislature to decide what to do in this matter. For instance: It would be a very hard matter for any one to convince the people of Rock county that the law is a good one, for the county loses $9,261 under that law, or rather it pays that much extra to other counties that have more children than taxable property. Then, if the members from this county wish to vote the settlement of their constituents they will vote for the repeal of the one-mill tax law, and they should not hesitate about it either.

It was said in the Gazette a few days ago that twenty-eight states in the Union collected their school fund through a state tax. Some states not half as wealthy as Wisconsin raised nearly three times more than that in 1885 for school purposes by a general tax. In one sense, the law is right, but on the principle that every county should educate its own children, it is not right. A cold business proposition to those counties whose children are out of proportion with their taxable property would be to have fewer children or more property, and to pay for your own schools. From a business point of view, the law should be repealed. From a more liberal point of view which dictates that the stronger counties should help the weaker in the work of education, the law should stand.

ABOUT PRISON CONTRACT LABOR.

In discussing the question of prison contract labor and prison reform, the Milwaukee Sentinel prints the following very sensible paragraph:

As a matter of fact there is a great deal of nonsense in the claim that prison contract labor is any considerable injury to free labor. In the penal institutions of the whole country is found productive labor is employed, including men, women and children, there are less than 35,000 persons. Of this number one-half are employed in work about the prisons which in no way competes with free labor. The remaining 25,000 do work in about thirty different varieties of trades. Statistics show that in these thirty trades there are more than 1,000,000 free laborers employed against 25,000 convicts; that the ratio of convict to free labor is only about 2 1/2 per cent, taking only the free labor establishments which produce over $500 of goods a year; that when we include the thousands of free laborers employed in the small shops and the thousands of skilled mechanics who come annually as immigrants, the ratio of convict to free labor is so small as to be inappreciable.

There is a good deal of wild talk done about prison labor competing with free labor. Theoretical reformers who are simply visionaries are a good deal like the anarchists in doing more work with their mouths than with their hands or their brains. They want the prison contract system abolished, but they haven't brains enough nor business experience enough to find a substitute that will be satisfactory to sensible, prudent, practical and rational citizens. No man of common sense can have an atom of hope that these so-called prison reformers can ever bring into being a practical substitute for the contract system.

But let us look at the question of competition. Last year there were 12,000 convicts employed in the Union, 6,139 convicts employed in prisons and reformatories in the boot and shoe industry; and more than one-third of this number were short time convicts confined in the minor prisons, and children in the reformatories. Now against these 6,139 adults and children employed in making boots and shoes in prisons, were 134,256 free workmen engaged in the same business. So that any talk that 6,000 adult and children convicts can seriously affect the welfare of 134,000 free laborers is ridiculously absurd.

But let us come nearer home. According to statistics gathered by Mr. Flower, commissioner of labor and industrial statistics of Wisconsin, there were in 1885, a little over 1,300 persons employed in twelve boot and shoe factories in this state. There were during the same time 350 convicts at Waupun, engaged in the manufacture of boots and shoes. To show how little the products of these convicts affect free labor in Wisconsin, it is only necessary to state that all the goods made in the prison but $40,491.83 were sold in this state in 1885, the great bulk of the product of the prison going to California and Oregon. But here is another side to the question. What have M. D. Wells & Co., who have the prison contract, done for Wisconsin? Let us see:

In 1886, they purchased stock and so on, of Wisconsin firms alone, which amounted to $150,227.91. They paid for local freight at Waupun, $7,079.17. They paid for foreign freight $9,690.31. They paid the state of Wisconsin, for convict labor $50,577.02, and more than that they paid Wisconsin citizens for labor, $35,129.60, making the total amount of money paid by M. D. Wells & Co., to persons in Wisconsin, $248,704.04, or nearly $250,000 more than that received from the sale of products in the state.

But the professional howlers against the contract system say that its influence on the prisoners is bad. In what regard is it bad they can not tell, and for the simple reason they do not know what they are talking about. Abolish the contract system, and one of two other systems must be adopted or the convicts will be compelled to accept enforced idleness. It will be the public account system or the piece-price plan. The latter in effect is the same as the contract system while the former is no better in that respect and at the same time very expensive to the state. The directors of the Ohio penitentiary, have tried the contract system and the piece-price plan during the past year, prisoners engaged in both systems working side by side, and their judgment is that the contract system is the best in any respect that can be named. This is the opinion of wardens and prison managers who are level headed, practical business men and not influenced by the tom-foolery notions of labor agitators and the Miss Nancy reformers who know no more about prison management and prison reform than an Apache knows about the science of evolution.

What is needed in our state prisons, penitentiaries and reformatories, is common sense business management, some industry that will prevent the moral, mental and physical deterioration of the prisoners. If the contract system will better meet this end, let it be that system. A change is dangerous because it will not create a reform, but on the other hand will involve heavy expenditures of money, which cannot be warranted on any proposition the month-laborers can make. Common sense dictates that convicts should be made to work; that so far as is possible they should be made to earn their own living; that the greatest amount of money, consistent with good management and humane treatment, should be obtained from their labor; and that this in no wise interferes with the highest and best reformatory influences.

Any other theory or system than this is demagogic and a fraud, and a scheme to saddle large expenditures of money upon the people, "that crims may live in idleness, and prison officials have free places, while laboring men foot the bills."

Self-Praise No Recommendation.
Self-praise is no recommendation, but the more times when one must permit a person to tell the truth about himself. When what he says is supported by the testimony of others no reasonable man will doubt his word. Now, to say that Albrook's Porous Plasters are the only genuine and reliable porous plasters made is not self-praise in the slightest degree. They have stood the test for twenty-five years, and in proof of their merits it is only necessary to call attention to the scores they have effected and to the voluntary testimonials of those who have used them.

GONE TO LAW ABOUT IT.

BOTH SIDES OF THE LABOR QUESTION IN COURT.

Orders Issued for the Arrest of the Leaders in the Great Strike of Loughborough—A Knight of Labor Assembly Sues a Firm for Violating a Wages Contract—Toll and Trouble.

New York, Jan. 29.—The newest thing Friday in the great strike alongshore was an order for the arrest of James E. Quinn, master workman of District assembly No. 40; John J. McKenna, master workman of the Old Dominion Steamship company, and Thomas McGrath, and Patrick McGarrity of the board of arbitration and strikes of No. 40. The order was obtained in a civil suit for damages brought by President N. L. McGraw, of the Old Dominion line, in the United States circuit court. President McGraw, accompanied by Vice President Robinson and the counsel for the company, Clarence A. Soward, appeared before Judge Shipman with an affidavit charging Quinn, McGrath, McGraw, and Patrick McGarrity with unlawful conspiracy. The complaint recites that President McGraw is informed and believes that the defendants have conspired to destroy and injure the property of the Old Dominion Steamship company, and prays that they may be held in bail to insure their appearance in court at the time of trial.

Judge Shipman granted an order of arrest at Mr. Soward's request, and fixed the bail at $5,000 in each case. The order of arrest was given to United States Marshal McMahon. He gave instructions to his deputies to make arrests during the day if possible, and if they could not be made before evening to let them stand over for a day, so that the defendants might be able to secure bail. The five men heard that some such proceeding against them was on foot, and were hunting busboys all day.

President McGraw was called to say much when seen by a reporter at his residence Friday night. He stated that the officers of the company had come to the conclusion that if there was any law to protect them in their rights they would invoke it. Mr. Quinn is a contracting bookbinder, but his office as master workman of No. 40 requires all his time. Mr. McKenna is a longshoreman, and is an educated man. The other three are of the board of arbitration and strikes of No. 40. These five carried on the contract with President McGraw in the office of the Old Dominion company, which ended in a refusal of the company to treat with them, finding that they had not received from their original demands. This was the complaint, also, that the representatives of the Transatlantic Steamship company on Tuesday.

The five men said that they were not aware that any boycott had been ordered on freight of the Old Dominion line, and that they had nothing to do with ordering the strike. Their whole business throughout, they said, has been to bring about a settlement of the trouble.

There is no change in the situation of the strike. All steamship business is nearly paralyzed, and it is almost impossible to get new men, and when they are obtained the union men manage frequently to get them to quit and join the union.

Released the Hostage.
HERRICK, N. J., Jan. 29.—Mr. A. J. Seligman, M. D. Bach, and Thomas West were the officers of the Gregory Mining company who were detained by the miners Wednesday while on a tour of inspection of the works. Mr. Seligman, who was held, is on his wedding tour. He was released Friday.

New York, Jan. 29.—At the office of J. & W. Seligman & Co. it was learned Friday afternoon that Mr. A. J. Seligman, of the Gregory Mining company, who was held as a hostage by the miners at the company's mine in Montana, had been released and permitted to return to Helena, and that the whole matter had been amicably adjusted. It is learned that the amount of cash sent from Helena to the mine, in order to placate the captors of Mr. Seligman, was $30,000.

Knights Suing a Contract Violator.
BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 29.—Cannamakers assembly No. 1,884, K. of L., has entered suit against Sylvester Ruth & Son, claiming $20,000 damages for an alleged violation of a contract between the assembly and the firm. The bill charges that it was agreed that Ruth & Son should pay the union price for making cans, from April 4, 1886, to April 1, 1887, the assembly agreeing not to support any strike until the price advanced during the period; that defendants refused to carry out the agreement, and declined to continue several workmen in their employ unless they would consent to work for less rates. These workmen, being under obligation not to accept less rates, have been thrown upon the assembly for support, hence the suit.

Trouble in the Boot Factories.
BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 29.—Work in the boot manufacturing here is about at a standstill. There are four large factories, with a capacity of 2,000 cases a day. The masters, tanners and finishers have sent in their price lists for the coming year, demanding an increase. No reply has been made, but it is likely the demand will be refused, as the manufacturers claim that there is no profit in the business. Indications are that the shops will either be closed or run in defiance of the union. These shops broke up the contract of Cripple twelve years ago, and the proprietors think they can get the best of the Knights of Labor now.

Refused to Work with Non-Union Girls.
CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The employees of Seitz, Schweb & Co., manufacturers of boots and shoes, to the number of 350 men and 67 girls, struck Friday afternoon because the firm refused to discharge thirteen girls in their employ who were non-union girls. The whole trouble, it is claimed, is in reality the continuation of the old feeling that has long existed between the journeymen shoemakers and the different shoe manufacturers, and for that reason it is feared the strike will shortly be extended to other large shops.

Illinois Legislative News.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 29.—A bill was introduced in the house Friday to restrict the amount any decedent can bequeath to relatives, other persons, or corporations; also a bill to compensate for the destruction of property by riot. A bill was introduced in the senate to prohibit miscegenation in this state. A number of appropriation bills were introduced in both houses.

The Men Were Saved.
HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 29.—Much joy was caused here Friday by the discovery that the crew of the wrecked schooner C. G. Graham had not been drowned as first reported. They were washed ashore on a harbor, and, though they suffered intensely, were finally rescued, all except the captain, who was lost.

BEACH ON THE DEFENSE.

He Defines His Position on Irish Affairs—The Fisheries Question.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—In a statement in the house of commons Friday, Sir James Fergusson, parliamentary secretary for foreign affairs, said Great Britain would uphold the rights of the colonists in the fishery question, but would leave no effort untried to bring about a peaceful solution of the present difficulty between Canada and the United States. A friendly communication had been received from the United States government on the subject.

Hicks-Beach, chief secretary for Ireland, in response to questions touching upon the recent evidence at Glenbeg, said that Gen. Sir Robert Bulfinch had not interfered in the matter until seventy tenants had been evicted, when he attempted to influence the mortgages of the Winn estate, through their agents, to pursue a more lenient course. The government, Hicks said, had no legal right to go further than this. The remedy he would suggest would be the removal of the inhabitants from that poverty-stricken district, of their own free will, of course, to some other part of Ireland. Hicks said "Slumps," "No," "Never!"—where they could live in prosperity and comfort. (Tumultuous Conservative cheers.) He would be delighted to aid in carrying out such a scheme, and had no doubt that it would prove efficacious.

Replying to an inquiry whether the government approved the burning of houses at Glenbeg in order to prevent the tenants' return to them, Sir Michael responded that it was not a business of his to express an opinion on that point. (Renewed Conservative cheers.)

Maj. Sanderson resumed the debate on the address by vigorously denouncing the National League for causing the crisis now impending in Ireland. The speaker said, Sanderson said, had commended itself to Gladstone. Gladstone made no reply to this beyond shaking his head negatively.

Barrington and Sanderson replied to Maj. Sanderson, the latter maintaining that it was equally as lawful for tenants to combine against landlords as for workmen to combine against employers.

Fry said: "If Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is not able to suggest a remedy for the Glenbeg affair he ought to resign."

Hicks-Beach said Mr. Fry's remark was unfair. The government contemplated proposals to ameliorate the condition of Ireland. He (Hicks) had been sadly misrepresented. The stories circulating to the effect that he had been exercising his power to its full extent were untrue. He had simply directed Gen. Buller and others when evictions became imminent to inform owners, especially non-resident owners, of the circumstances of the case and to use their influence, reason and argument to promote an amicable settlement with the tenants. In that respect he had exceeded his absolute duties, but no instance could be cited wherein a government official had caused a landlord by threatening to withhold protection. The plan of campaign, he said, meant simply a combination to force landlords to accept when and what the tenants chose to offer. The government had been obliged to do the best it could with the tools available, but these had not sufficed to cope with the Nationalists' plan.

SERENADING A PRISONER.
A Novel Occurrence at Kilmallick Jail—O'Brien Abuses Chamberlain.

DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—A large crowd of persons, accompanied by several bands of music, assembled outside Kilmallick jail Friday evening and serenaded the Nationalist prisoner, Moroney, who on January 14 was found guilty of fraud and imprisoned by order of Judge Boyd. Moroney's offense was that he sold his cattle by auction, paid over a portion of the proceeds of the sale to the managers of the plan of campaign, and went into bankruptcy to avoid paying rent. When arraigned in Judge Boyd's court he refused to testify as to his disposition of the remainder of the money obtained by the sale of his cattle, or indeed to answer any question concerning the plan of campaign or the names of those engaged in carrying it out.

William O'Brien, in a speech, referred to Joseph Chamberlain's recent condemnation of the plan of campaign in Scotland as strange. Chamberlain's life during the past year, O'Brien declared, had been one from beginning to end, and his turning against his friends had made him equal to an assassin.

Startling Disclosures in Brooklyn.
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Some very startling disclosures were made by the grand jury Friday. They reveal a most alarming state of affairs in the workings of the city government, and which clearly indicate the need of a reorganization of the city government. The grand jury, composed of the board of aldermen with granting franchises to electric light companies for their personal benefit. The mayor is exonerated by the grand jury, which expresses the opinion that he has been thoroughly hoodwinked. Brooklyn is powerless to stamp out the infamy, because of the failure to obtain the testimony of witnesses necessary to convict the corrupt politicians. The proceedings of the grand jury causes a profound local sensation.

A Desperate Mischance.
BARNSTOWN, Ky., Jan. 29.—Lud Cornish, of Barnstown, who shot Miss Lulu Green through the heart and brain because she would not marry him, trying also to kill the girl's mother and sister, made a desperate attempt to escape from jail Friday morning. When Jailer Curry opened Cornish's cell door, the murderer seized a heavy iron bar he had wrangled from the bedstead and struck the unsuspecting jailer a terrible blow. It was aimed at Curry's head, but he escaped death by dodging. Assistant Jailer No. 2 came to his assistance, and after a desperate struggle held the murderer until help arrived. Cornish is now handcuffed and tied with cords.

Evictions at Glenbeg.
DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—The last of the evictions from the Winn estate took place at Glenbeg Friday. Three tenants were evicted, and their houses let to the ground, and two others were readmitted to their dwellings as caretakers. Agent Roy, in one case, renewed his offer to pay the cost himself if the tenants would pay half a year's rent, but the tenant, a man named Gales, refused the offer.

THE CALL OF ABRAHAM.

DR. CURTIS'S NOTES ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
Lesson V. for Sunday, Jan. 30 - Lesson Text, Gen. xii, 1-9 - Golden Text, Gen. xii, 2 - "I Will Bless Thee and Make Thy Name Great."

The true religion is not the result of development, according to the Old Testament. The natural tendency of man, as seen in Adam, in the men before the flood, and in the men after the flood, is to worship the false gods of the world. The true religion is the result of the call of God.

THE DAILY GAZETTE.

Has increased its circulation twenty-five per cent during the past year. As an advertising medium it is recognized as reliable and effective.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE is without a rival in the country. The rates of advertising are always based upon circulation. If you have anything to say to the people of the city or county you can speak to more of them through the columns of the GAZETTE than through any other medium published in the same territory.

—Bower City Band furnished music for the rink to-night.

—Go early and secure a good seat for the polo game to-night.

—Reserved seats for Casprie will be on sale Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

—The Old Fellows and their families will enjoy a social dance at Old Fellows hall this evening.

—An adjourned meeting of the common council will be held this evening for the purpose of considering amendments to the city charter.

—Miss Jessie Shearer entertained a small party at her home in the first ward, dancing, music, and cards made the time pass most enjoyably.

—The Racine polo team will arrive at 5:50 by the Milwaukee & St. Paul road and the game will be called at nine o'clock sharp.

—George W. Ford, formerly of the Beloit Argus and one of the men charged with assaulting the Salvation army, is running a monthly stock paper in Delevan.

—Milton Nobles came from "Love and Law" to "The Phoenix" for his Janesville appearance will be thoroughly appreciated by the majority of our theatregoers.

—The funeral of Mrs. John Hunt was held from St. Patrick's church this morning. At the close of the services the remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery.

—Three sleigh loads of young people from the second grammar ward at the first ward school spent last evening very pleasantly at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fisher, a short distance from the city.

—William Smith, of this city, is still in Albany as a witness for the defense in the burglary case recently mentioned in the Gazette. It is said that before the case is finished there will be very sensational developments.

—There were two sleighing parties out last night that seemed to have had a misunderstanding. In one "bob" were six or seven young ladies, while another just behind it was occupied by the same number of disconsolate young men.

—Mark Twain's oddities were illustrated and discussed at the Court Street Literary club's meeting last evening. The audience being large. The programme was shortened somewhat to give time for a rehearsal of the "Old Fashioned School" but it proved very entertaining nevertheless.

—In view of the fact that their musical director, Mr. W. C. Conover, will not be much longer a resident of the city, the people of Trinity church are looking about for someone to be his successor. They wish to continue the boy choir and have offered the leadership to Frank L. Hayden.

—A special train will be sent from Chicago to-morrow to carry the railroad employees that wish to attend the funeral of Conductor James Mahoney. Mr. Mahoney was a member of the Order of Railway Conductors, his death being the second that has occurred in the society. The members will attend in a body.

—Judge Bennett has dismissed the complaint made against E. W. Hill by James Bear. The two make up the Janesville Morocco Co., and Mr. Bear is trying to have the partnership dissolved. As he failed to prove enough to make a dissolution justifiable, the court took action as above stated but gave leave to file an amended complaint within forty days.

—While there will be no professional customer in the city for the Y. M. C. C. maquerade some of the characters will be picturesque and striking. After a pledge of deep secrecy one of the most remarkable costumes was shown to a few admiring friends this morning. It was a triumph of ingenuity and will shine with splendor on next Thursday evening.

—The question is raised as to the right of the common council to adopt amendments to the city charter. A body of eleven men, elected to obey and enforce its provisions, it is claimed, has no more right to petition for charter amendments than any other like number of private citizens. Yet there are numerous provisions in the charter which ought to be re-constructed, none more than that relating to ward funds and street work. Just what the proposed amendments cover is not publicly known as yet, but will be brought to light this evening.

—To day the Chinese in the city as well as everywhere else are finishing up their New Year's celebration. Their year began last Sunday, and has been commencing again on a smaller scale every day since then. A full week is spent in turning over new leaves and firing off "ill-clackers," but in Janesville this year the observance was not general.

One of the almond-eyed foreigners was asked why this was, but he seemed to have a difficulty in understanding. He replied blantly, "Ye-whang ye 'chad rook," and relapsed into a gloomy silence. Another had been here longer and was able to explain about John Chinaman's New Year with a little more fluency. He said that in Janesville the only celebration done had been at night, as there was "too much work" to shut up shop. This is only done in cities where the colony is larger.

—The board of trustees of the old time Doestrick Skew, had some difficulty in finding a teacher to suit them, in spite of numerous applications. They first engaged Mr. N. E. Bennett, but the school board at Hanover objected to his teaching in their city and at the county seat town at the same time. Mr. D. D. Bennett was then employed but was unexpectedly called out of town and obliged to resign his position. Extra inducements were then offered and Mr. W. L. Carle was persuaded to take the position for the balance of the winter term. By securing seats early the public will have the pleasure of visiting the school at the opera house next Tuesday evening.

—Last evening while the coasting was going on at North Fourth street, one of the bobs was overturned. Those who were riding were mere youngsters and John Peters, one of them, was unable to get out of the way of a bob just behind. He was struck on the head, but at first seemed only slightly hurt. After he reached home however he was taken with an attack of vomiting and a physician was called. The boy was found to be terribly bruised about the head, so much so that a high fever was brought on. He is still confined to his bed at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Peters on North Fourth street although this afternoon he seemed to be resting considerably easier. The principal fear was that he would lose the sight of one eye, but unless inflammation sets in all danger for this is past.

—Speaking of Munio Maddern, who is to appear at the opera house on Wednesday evening of next week, the Chicago Inter Ocean says: It is very gratifying to us to have an opportunity to heartily commend the work of Miss Maddern, a very charming little woman, a most faithful young actress, a public favorite who has a mien of yet undeveloped talent. It was a remarkable revelation in many respects incidents of it reaching the very perfection of mimetic endeavor here and there a touch so much a part of nature that wistful nature answered with a tear. There is a peculiar satisfaction in the privilege to witness such a triumph on the part of a young actress who was but yesterday a child; but the privilege to command success so rare, accomplishment so exceptional and talent so fully provided with a medium of expression surely affords a deeper pleasure.

—Speaking of the polo game in Racine on Thursday night, the Journal says: "Six stalwart and muscular young men arrived in the city on the St. Paul railroad last evening. It was the celebrated Janesville polo team, the same with one of two exceptions, who had the wild idea last year that they could play polo with the Lakelanders. Yes; this team represented the town that actually stole the badges which were fairly won by Racine. They came full of confidence and conceit, knowing that they were going to play the Lakelanders, composed of young boys. Before the game the captain said: 'Now we only want thirty minutes to do up the 'chippers,' for we wish to catch that 10:30 train.' Well this outbreak of conceit must feel like crawling into a very small apartment to-day, because the 'chips' showed 'em how to play polo to the tune of 3 to 2. The 10:30 train was not caught. They, the alleged polo players, will not be received with brass bands, parades and speeches by Joe Dos, Fathers and Valentine upon their arrival home. Rather, it will be a funeral dirge and woeing because the dear fellows were 'ind out' and the worst of it is by the 'chips'. There is always a day of retribution and it appears to have struck Janesville." The clubs play at the Riverside rink this evening, when the Racine kids will undoubtedly whistle another tune.

—Less than half a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cured me of a severe bronchial affection.
H. S. HOPKIN, 40 Hanover St., Baltimore, Md.

Don't let a dealer offer you a bottle of Salvation Oil without labels or wrappers, or in a mutilated or defaced package don't touch it—don't buy it at any price. Turn upon getting a perfect, unbroken, genuine package. Price 25 cents a bottle.

PERSONAL.

—Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Puffer, of Monroe, have returned after attending the funeral of Miss Belle Wadsworth.

—Miss Millie Chittenden, of the first ward, has returned from an extended trip to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

—Ald. Stanislaus Hanischowski, of the fourteenth ward, Milwaukee, was Friday fined $10 and costs in the municipal court on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

—Captain Thoroughgood, of the Salvation Army, who has been in command of the "barracks" in this city for the past three months, will return to her home in Toronto, Canada, next week. The little captain has made many friends during her stay in Janesville, has been a constant and hard worker in her chosen field, and her friends part with her with many regrets. As a token of their esteem they propose, on Monday evening, to take up a silver collection for her benefit in order to in part pay her for her faithful services while in our city as she has labored all this time without pay. It is hoped there will be a large attendance on Monday evening at the "barracks" and that a liberal contribution will be the result.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 16 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. At 1 o'clock p. m., the register was 37 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with a light rain. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 12 and 23 degrees above zero.

GOOD TEMPLARS.

At a meeting of the Good Templars held last evening at their hall, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing quarter:

W. C. T.—W. H. Horn.

W. V. T.—Francis Eller.

W. S.—Geo. Crane.

W. F. S.—A. J. Peeson.

W. T.—Minnie Strickler.

W. Chap.—Rev. T. DeWitt Peake.

W. M.—Wm. Corning.

W. I. G.—Jimmie Hayer.

W. O. G.—J. Scott.

Organist—Ada Brandt.

WANTED—TWO BEAUX HORSES.

The Fire Department Committee of Janesville are instructed to purchase two horses for fire department use.

Parties having good, sound young horses weighing between 1,400 and 1,600 pounds will please report the same to J. E. McLean, T. T. Croft or Dr. W. H. Judd, committee.

For good heavy turnouts go to Danwidde & Humphrey's.

HUMAN NATURE.

The men who kicked about the best, now growl about the cold. Old people with their feet young. The young that were old.

A man is always saying that a woman's love is sublime. A woman, that she were a man is wishing all the time.

The maiden thinks that marriage is a happy, blissful reign. And when she's married, then she wants To be a maid again.

We think it a million bad. Our trouble would be to let. And when we get a million, then We want a million more.

JOTTINGS AROUND TOWN.

Stray Leaves From a Reporter's Note Book.

"Do you know what the effect of this free delivery will be?" said ex-Mayor Alex Richardson the other morning. "I've been in quite a number of cities not much larger than where they had it, and have noticed the working of the system considerably. People no longer have to come down town for their mail and a field for 'action' stores is made. These will spring up all through the residence part of the city. They will have a little trouble, a few collars and cuffs, some stationery, a shelf full of hats and candy, and more or less ribbons, buttons and that class of smaller goods. People will run in there instead of coming down town. The larger stores will lose much of their trade and can't afford to keep anywhere near the line of goods they do now, and much of our shopping will be done in Chicago and Milwaukee."

If the city is to own and run the works when built, it will make proposals for erection simply. If the party making the successful bid for the city ownership can get its pay for the erection of the works, it has no further concern in the matter. While, on the other hand, if the company who bids, with the condition that it is to own and run the works, then it has the very strongest incentive to get and supply good water at a figure that will induce all persons to use it.

In short, a private company invests a large sum of money, knowing that its success depends upon supplying good water at a reasonable price.

HYDRAULICS.

You compare me with unnamed hydraulic engineers, and thus leave me in a fever of suspense.

Do you refer to the engineer, who, several years since, in a spirit of enthusiasm, got about $3,000 out of the city and by private subscription, to bore a hole in the fair grounds, and who has ever since insisted that the water obtained therefrom is soft, with perhaps a rabbit flavor. If you refer to that engineer, I humbly submit, that it is still a matter of doubt in the minds of many, as to which is the most successful bore, the hole or the engineer; or did you intend that part of your article as a joke? I have applied the Scotch test, but am still unable to decide. Will you kindly make an affidavit on this point and thus determine whether that section is "wind or argument."

You ask if I did not several years ago favor paying $75 a year for hydrants. Perhaps so, at the same time I paid 35 cents a pound for butter and 10 cents a yard for cotton cloth.

For that matter, I would prefer paying that sum to-day, than to bond the city for $200,000 or $150,000 for water works. The experience of other cities fails to show any profit in city ownership.

The history of small cities which have indulged in this luxury shows that their bonded debt has increased instead of diminished.

You have twice in public meetings said that the income of the city of Rockford from water rates was $29,000 a year. Was that statement "wind or fact." If fact, will you put an itemized statement on paper and publish it?

Do you still think that there are 300 tax payers in this city who are in favor of bonding the city to the amount of $125,000, for water works, if so, suppose you circulate a petition for that purpose or get some one to do it. You will very soon ascertain that my proposition in that matter is not "wind" but is a "fact."

You ask me to write to J. D. Cooke, of Toledo, an engineer, for information, etc. On the other hand, in this open and friendly argument, I ask you to consult the wishes of a majority of the tax payers of this city.

For one I prefer to have a private company build and own the works, but I am willing to yield to the majority of the tax payers. Ought you not to be willing to respect the same mandate? Or do you stand so firmly upon the pedestal of your own opinion that you don't care for the wishes of the majority.

A few days since I wrote to several cities, selecting disinterested attorneys, whose names appear in Sloan's Legal Directory, on this matter of private ownership. Here is the first answer:

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 25, 1887.

My Dear Sir,

Your inquiry of the 23rd is at hand. In reply, I say that the system of water rates here gives entire satisfaction.

The company put in 775 taps the first year. This is many more than the company expected, and shows the people are well pleased with the works and the management.

As an instance of the difference between a city ownership and that of a private corporation, I give Lansing, Mich. There the city owns and operates the water works. I am correctly informed, they have less than 300 taps made for them by the city and the city has 2,000 more inhabitants than Ann Arbor. We are well satisfied with our contract. Our city gained a large part of this gain to our water system.

Very truly,
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 25, 1887.
